Women's Summer School Scholarships information

Application deadline: May 18, 2018.

WFSE/AFSCME offers two scholarships each year to the Western Regional Summer Institute for Union Women for WFSE/AFSCME members.

The Summer Institute for Union Women (SIUW) is a program of the United Association for Labor Education. It brings together 150 diverse, dynamic activists from more than 50 unions, worker centers and community organizations in the western region of the United States and Canada for five days and four nights. Participants develop and deepen organizing skills, train for becoming leaders in their unions and grapple with big picture issues that the labor movement is facing. This is a rare opportunity for rank and file members, elected leaders and staff to explore issues that affect women in the workplace and in their communities. SIUW creates lasting bonds; experienced leaders serve as mentors and role models, and younger leaders provide fresh perspectives and inspiration. This summer the Institute for will be held at Sonoma State University in Rohnert Park, Calif. (one hour north of San Francisco) from July 10-14, 2018.

The scholarships cover the costs for registration (which includes housing and most meals) and travel. The WFSE/AFSCME Scholarship Committee will award one scholarship to a member from Western Washington and one from Eastern Washington.
